CLOSED CIRCUIT TELEVISION POLICY (CCTV)

1. Introduction

This document is the Policy on Closed-Circuit Television of Sunlands Primary School, as approved by the School Governing Body. The policy has been drafted in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996; the South African Schools Act 84 of 1996 ("SASA"), the Regulations for Safety Measures at Public Schools (Government Gazette 22754/2001: Government Notice 1040), and other applicable legislation.

In terms of the Regulations for Safety Measures at Public Schools, Sunlands Primary School has been declared a violence and drug-free school. The Policy on Closed-Circuit Television is aimed at giving practical effect to this declaration and to safeguard the school's staff, learners and visitors' well-being. The policy has been drafted in order to create the healthy school atmosphere that is essential for excellent education. Therefore, the policy intends for the closed-circuit television system to be managed so as not to infringe on the rights of the school's learners, staff, parents or visitors. The policy may also be reviewed from time to time, if the need arises.

In terms of section 20(1) (g) of SASA, the governing body must administer and control school property, including the buildings and grounds occupied by the school. Administer and control also includes introducing or installing security measures such as a closed-circuit television system. In addition, paragraph 5(1)(a) of the Regulations for Safety Measures at Public Schools provides that the principal – subject to the Constitution, other legislation as well as national and provincial policy – may take such steps as (s)he considers necessary for the safeguarding of the public school premises as well as for the protection of the people thereon. Paragraph 9(5) of the Regulations also stipulates that public schools must develop action plans to counter threats of violence that may have a negative impact on the school.

2. Definitions

'Public school premises' include any building, structure, hall, room, office, recreational area, land or enclosed area that is under the control of the school and to which a member of the public enjoys a right of access, or is usually admitted or may be admitted.
